Contents

Introduction: Borders and States of In-Betweenness in Irish Literature and Culture 7
IRENE GILSENA NORDIN and ELIN HOLMSTEN

PART I. Liminal States

1 Limning the Liminal, Thinking the Threshold: Irish Studies’ Approach to Theory 17
MICHAEL G. O’SULLIVAN

2 Images of Migration in Irish Film: Thinking Inside the Box 35
CHERYL TEMPLE HERR

PART II. Liminal Narratives

3 History in/of the Borderlands: Emily Lawless and the Story of Ireland 51
HEIDI HANSSON

4 “The Other’ that Moves and Misleads”: Mapping and Temporality in Éilís Ní Dhuibhne’s The Dancer’s Dancing 69
SUSAN CAHILL

PART III. Drama as Liminal Rites of Passage

5 Movement as Text, Text as Movement: The Choreographic Writing of Samuel Beckett 87
LOTTA PALMERSTIENRA EINARSSON
Caught in the Liminal: Dorothy Cross’s Udder Series and Marina Carr’s By the Bog of Cats...
Róisín O’Gorman

PART IV. Transformative Spaces in Contemporary Irish Women’s Poetry

7  Identity as Becoming: Polymorphic Female Identities in the Poetry of Boland, Meehan and Ní Dhomhnaill
Katarzyna Poloczek

8 “So Much Psychic Land [...] to Reclaim”: Otherworldly Encounters in Nuala Ní Dhomhnaill’s Poetry
Michaela Schrage-Früh

9 The (Translato)logic of Spectrality: Nuala Ní Dhomhnaill and Her English Doubles
Maryna Romanets

Contributors

Index