Contents

Adaptive Dialogue and User Modeling

Towards a Socially Adaptive Virtual Agent ........................................... 3
Atef Ben Youssef, Mathieu Chollet, Hazaël Jones, Nicolas Sabouret, Catherine Pelachaud, and Magalie Ochs

An Ontology-Based Question System for a Virtual Coach Assisting in Trauma Recollection ................................................................. 17
Myrthe Tielman, Marieke van Meggelen, Mark A. Neerincx, and Willem-Paul Brinkman

Adaptive Grounding and Dialogue Management for Autonomous
Conversational Assistants for Elderly Users .................................... 28
Ramin Yaghoubzadeh, Karola Pitsch, and Stefan Kopp

Opponent Modeling for Virtual Human Negotiators ......................... 39
Zahra Nazari, Gale M. Lucas, and Jonathan Gratch

Adapting Virtual Patient Interviews for Interviewing Skills Training of Novice Healthcare Students ....................................................... 50
Stephanie Carnell, Shivashankar Halan, Michael Crary,
Aarthi Madhavan, and Benjamin Lok

On Conversational Agents with Mental States .................................. 60
Tibor Bosse and Simon Provoost

Cognitive, Affective and Social Models

Virtual Suspect William ................................................................. 67
Merijn Bruijnes, Rieks op den Akker, Arno Hartholt, and Dirk Heylen

Modeling a Social Brain for Interactive Agents: Integrating Mirroring and Mentalizing ................................................................. 77
Sebastian Kahl and Stefan Kopp

Modeling Sensation for an Intelligent Virtual Agent’s Perception Process 87
Tobias Haubrich, Sven Seele, Rainer Herpers, Christian Bauckhage, and Peter Becker

Towards Adaptive, Interactive Virtual Humans in Sigma .................. 98
Volkan Ustun and Paul S. Rosenbloom
Beyond Believability: Quantifying the Differences Between Real and Virtual Humans ................................................................. 109
Celso M. de Melo and Jonathan Gratch

From One to Many: Simulating Groups of Agents with Reinforcement Learning Controllers ................................................................. 119
Luiselena Casadiego and Nuria Pelechano

An Experience-Based Approach to Simulate Virtual Crowd Behaviors Under the Influence of Alcohol ................................................................. 124
Vinícius Jurinic Cassol, Cíceres Mack Dal Bianco, Alexandre Carvalho, Jovani Brasil, Maristela Monteiro, and Soraia Raupp Musse

Modelling Group Behaviour in Autonomous Synthetic Characters .......... 128
Naziya Hussaini and Ruth Aylett

A Framework for Exogenous and Endogenous Reflexive Behavior in Virtual Characters ................................................................. 132
Ulysses Bernardet and Steve DiPaola

Nonverbal Behavior and Gestures

Real-Time Visual Prosody for Interactive Virtual Agents .................. 139
Herwin van Welbergen, Yu Ding, Kai Sattler, Catherine Pelachaud, and Stefan Kopp

Predicting Co-verbal Gestures: A Deep and Temporal Modeling Approach ... 152
Chung-Cheng Chiu, Louis-Philippe Morency, and Stacy Marsella

Modeling Warmth and Competence in Virtual Characters ................. 167
Truong-Huy D. Nguyen, Elin Carstensdottir, Nhi Ngo, Magy Seif El-Nasr, Matt Gray, Derek Isaacowitz, and David Desteno

Storytelling Agents with Personality and Adaptivity ..................... 181
Chao Hu, Marilyn A. Walker, Michael Neff, and Jean E. Fox Tree

Gestural Coupling Between Humans and Virtual Characters in an Artistic Context of Imitation ...................................................... 194
Elisabetta Bevacqua, Céline Jost, Alexis Nédélec, and Pierre De Loor

Pedagogical Agents in Health and Training

Negotiation as a Challenge Problem for Virtual Humans .................. 201
Jonathan Gratch, David DeVault, Gale M. Lucas, and Stacy Marsella
