Multicentrism as an Emerging Paradigm in Legal Theory

Marek Zirk-Sadowski
Mariusz Golecki
Bartosz Wojciechowski
(eds.)
Contents

Editorial Introduction: The Outline of the Theory of Multicentric Legal System ................................................. 7

Part I. Jurisprudential Aspects of Multicentrism

Werner Becker (Giessen)
On a European Tradition of the European Union ................. 15

Anne Wagner (Boulogne-sur-Mer)
The European Cultural Ecumene, Legal Pluralism ............... 29

Marek Zirk-Sadowski (Łódź)
Soft Kelsenism versus Multicentrism: Some Remarks on Theoretical Foundations of European Law ......................... 51

Tatiana Machalová (Brno)
Interpretative Practice in the Multicentric System of Law .......... 69

Tomasz Stawecki (Warsaw)
Internal Multicentrism and Judicial Review .......................... 79

Part II. Multicentrism in European Context

Sebastian Sykuna, Jerzy Zajadło (Gdańsk)
Cultural Defence: New Challenges for Criminal Law in Europe? .... 111

Jan Winczorek (Warsaw)
Between Triviality and Triviality. A Legal Multicentrism from Systems’ Theoretical Point of View .......................... 127

Nina-Louisa Arol (Lund)
Multicentrism: How Strasbourg’s Legal Culture Affects Legal Traditions in Europe ........................................ 157

Mariusz J. Golecki, Bartosz Wojciechowski (Łódź)
The Application of Law within a Multicentric Legal System. Economic Analysis of Köbler and Traghetti ................. 173
Anna Kalisz, Bartosz Liżewski (Lublin)
The European Convention and Human Rights in the Judgements of the EU Courts ............................................. 197

Part III. Multicentrism and New Global Order

Sidney L. Harring (New York)

Radim Polčák (Brno)
The Lazy Theories: A Short Remark on the Silent Order in Multicentric Legal Systems ............................................. 233

Joanna Jemielniak (Warsaw)
Application of Transnational Substantive Rules to Commercial Disputes: on Creative Aspects of Arbitral Decision Making ........ 247

Victor Tsilonis (Thessaloniki)
Taming the Waves of International Criminal Justice: The Paradox of Serving (in)justice through (un)just Means and the Saddam Hussein’s Case ................................................................. 271

Anna Maria Nawrot (Lund)
The Involvement of Human Rights in Limiting the Adverse Effects on Access to Digital Knowledge – as One Step Towards a Multicentric Principle of Access to Digital Knowledge ......................................... 291

Contributors ................................................................. 305